Leading With Passion and Knowledge: The Principal as Action Researcher

Become the “head learner” in your school by engaging in action research!

Action research can serve as a critical element in the professional development of principals, administrators, and school leaders. Award-winning author Nancy Fichtman Dana guides leaders in identifying and exploring areas of interest for principal research, including staff development, curriculum development, individual teachers, community/culture building, leadership skills, building management, and school performance. With a step-by-step approach, this resource:

- Helps principals develop a question, collect and analyze data, and share the results of their inquiry
- Includes numerous examples of actual principal inquiry
- Provides exercises to guide principals through their own inquiry projects

As a scholar exactly feel bored to help reading. If their teacher expected them to go to the library as well as to make summary for some publication, they are complained. Just minor students that has reading's soul or real their leisure activity. They just do what the instructor want, like asked to go to the library. They go to right now there but nothing reading critically. Any students feel that looking at is not important, boring as well as can't see colorful photographs on there. Yeah, it is to be complicated. Book is very important for you.
