Meet Keira Kelley. She is kind, generous, smart, and beautiful. She has her whole life planned out. She is determined to live better than her mother. So she moves in with her Aunt Debbie to attend Brenton Private School.

On the first day of her senior year, she meets Lane Callahan. He is perfect and privileged. He is popular, the quarterback of a winning football team and gorgeous. His family is wealthy and a prominent part of the community. He should be happy, right?

Lane and Keira become fast friends. Lane is captivated by her love of life and determination. She soon learns that his mother is overbearing and controlling. His father is a liar and adulterer. His parents are forcing him to date Rachel, a girl who is not girlfriend material.

Keira is determined to remain friends with Lane even though she loves him and wants more. Although they both want a relationship, the people and circumstances around them complicate things. Keira resolves to move on with her life and not become Lane's "groupie". Lane has to decide to "man up" and not give in to his parent's demands. Lane is determined to have Keira for forever. He is desperate to love her.
